NANAIMO, Aug. 30.—The Nanaimo Herald will say tomorrow morning that it has been authoritatively informed that the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., will, on September 1, take over the coal mines of the Western Fuel Corporation, Ltd., of Canada, Nanaimo. Intimation of the purchase has just been made. The properties include the Reserve, the Wakelash, and the Protection mines located here. The Canadian Collieries own and operate coal mines at Cumberland and Extension, the latter near Ladysmith.

Several months ago Mr. T. R. Stockett, who for a number of years acted as general manager of the Western Fuel Corporation, and Mr. J. Smith, a former heavy stockholder in the Western Fuel Corporation, inspected the mines on behalf of the Canadian Collieries, and as a result the sale has been consummated, it is stated.

PHYSICAL PRODUCTION
The Canadian Collieries and the Western Fuel Corporation are two of the three large mining corporations operating collieries on Vancouver Island. Last year the Western Fuel Corporation produced 432,844 tons of coal for sale, and used 113,683 tons for colliery purposes and carried stock forward into the present year of 29,076 tons. It employed 842 persons underground and 398 above the surface, making a total of 1,240. Of these, 335 were miners.

Sir Austen Chamberlain Is Carried on Wheel Chair From Station to Cabin Aboard Ship

NEURITIS CAUSES ACUTE SUFFERING

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 30.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, a very sick man, sailed from Liverpool today at 4 o'clock this afternoon aboard the S. O. Roma, on a cruise which will include Canada, Bermuda and the United States, and which he hopes will restore his health.
Sir Austen arrived from London shortly before his ship sailed, accompanied by Lady Chamberlain, their sons, Joseph and Lawrence, and their daughter, Diane.
The train trip so exhausted him that he was unable to receive the deputation of the Liverpool Consular Corps, and had to be carried on a wheel chair from the station to his cabin aboard.
He smiled at those who crowded around him at his arrival, but it was the smile of a man suffering acutely from ill-health which in his case has taken the phase of neuritis. It is understood, however, in official circles that Sir Austen's illness is not considered serious, and that he is expected to recuperate completely before he returns to London on November 7.

Mr. W. C. Bridgeman Is Retiring From the House of Commons

LONDON, Aug. 30.—It was said tonight by excellent authority that Rt. Hon. William Clive Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty since 1924, is retiring from the House of Commons, and will announce tomorrow to his constituents his intention not to seek re-election from Croydon. This constituency, which Bridgeman has represented since 1906, his present term lasting until after the general elections next year. Mr. Bridgeman himself declined tonight to give any information regarding the matter, bidding inquirers "Wait until tomorrow."
It is generally believed that he will be given a peerage on the dissolution of the present Parliament, and will go to the House of Lords. Whether this will mean his resignation from the ministry is not known, but this is considered possible in view of the fact that he is now sixty-four years old, and recently has been subject to attacks of arthritis.
The believed impending action of Mr. Bridgeman has created a mild political sensation in England.

Krassin Hastens Return Northwest To Resume Search

MOSCOW, Aug. 30.—With the sun slipping away from the Polar Sea, the Russian icebreaker Krassin is hastening its return to King Bay so that it may resume the search for lost members of the Noble Arctic Expedition and the six missing rescuers under Roald Amundsen. The Krassin has been completely refueled and has food sufficient for several months.
Secretary Gromov, of the Soviet Rescue Commission, said that as soon as the vessel reaches King Bay it will take aboard Aviator Chukhovsky and his plane. This is the combination of man and machine which first found the two survivors of the "walking party" of the disintegrating.

B.C. Airways Ltd. Arrange for Salvaging of Plane Through Insurance Company Representative

WITH the B.C. Airways Ltd. wrecked monoplane spotted at the bottom of Discovery Bay by Pilot Alexander Holden, stepson of Dr. D. B. Holden, passenger on board the ill-fated craft, officials of the company put through the recovery of the plane for the salvaging of the machine.
At the request of the Transport Insurance Company of New York, Seattle, and instructing him to arrange for the salvaging of the plane in Seattle. This was done owing to the craft being wrecked on American shores.
A meeting of the directors of the B.C. Airways Ltd. was held last night, but nothing definite decided. All matters pertaining to the company's air service will be held in abeyance until the monoplane and the bodies of the passengers are recovered.
Mr. Orell E. Eves, business manager of the B.C. Airways, stated yesterday that his brother, Mr. Ernest Eves, had arranged for motorship and aircraft assistance to the wrecked monoplane and its five remaining occupants. In a long distance telephone communication from Port Townsend, Mr. Eves stated that the plane and its five remaining occupants. DISCOVERY MADE

PORT TOWNSEND, Aug. 30.—Flying a land plane, Alexander Holden, of Tacoma, today discovered a white spot on the bottom of Discovery Bay, which he declared he believed was the wrecked Seattle-Victoria plane, in which seven persons perished Saturday. Holden, whose father was a victim of the ill-fated plane, said he believed the discovery was the wrecked monoplane and its five remaining occupants. In a long distance telephone communication from Port Townsend, Mr. Eves stated that the plane and its five remaining occupants.

LEAGUE USES CONCILIATION

Coercion Is Not Method of League of Nations, Lord Cushead Emphasizes GENEVA, Aug. 30.—Premier Mackenzie King of Canada, who took Canada's seat on the Council of the League of Nations when it convened this afternoon, attended the sitting of the minorities commission, which is dealing with a protest from Belgian and Russian minorities in Greece against expropriation.

Lord Cushead, acting British Foreign Secretary, told British newsmen in an interview this afternoon, that by his own appointment during the Foreign Secretary's enforced absence through illness the record of continuous British presence at Geneva was maintained.
The League must fear exaggerated expectations and a tendency to be impatient, Lord Cushead said.
So far the League had shown two high qualities—patience and conciliation, both of which were the League's true motto, rather than coercion, which latter policy the League discredited by offering its good offices in order that troublesome questions might be adjusted.
A feature of this session was the appearance for the first time of a representative of the new Chinese Nationalist Government. In accepting Wang Kung-ki, Chinese Minister at Brussels, as the Chinese member of the council, the League gave official recognition to the new Chinese regime.

SUMAS AREA TO BE VISITED BY CABINET

Executive Council of Provincial Government Will See Reclaimed Area in Lower Fraser Valley

PLANS FOR USE TO BE FORMULATED

The reclaimed Sumas Lake from the bottom of Sumas Bay will be inspected by the members of the "provincial Government today for the purpose of affording the opportunity of seeing the situation of affairs there looking to the formulating of a policy which will have to be evolved by the province. The land is now available and it is the desire of Premier Tolmie and his colleagues in the Government that the best possible use may be made of the area.
This does not, however, preclude the present Government from the duty of ascertaining what is the best thing to be done with the reclaimed area to make it productive and turn it into an asset to the province.
It is with the idea of getting exact information that the members of the Government will visit the place today. Hon. R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General, and Hon. W. McKendrick, Minister of Mines, left last night for the mainland, where they will join the other members of the Government who are now there, and they will proceed to the Sumas Reclamation area today, visiting en route some parts of Delta and other sections of the Lower Mainland where questions are coming up for consideration.
Having paid a visit to the section, members of the Government will be in a position to discuss the matter from a more practical standpoint. It is expected that the subject, without much longer delay, will come up for consideration by the Executive Council, and plans for handling the land now at the disposal of the Government will be formulated with as little loss of time as possible.

EMPIRE HAS MISSION TO HUMAN RACE

Capt. the Rev. G. H. Woolley, V.C., M.C., Says British Peoples Can Fulfill Opportunity by Being United

DIRECTS PUBLIC SCHOOLS' TOURS

Great Influx of British Settlers to Dominions Will Be Result of Visits of English Boys, He Claims

"It seems to me that, as an Empire, we have got, through the strategic steps we hold, through our power, wealth and possibilities, a mission to the whole human race, and a greater opportunity than any other nation can have. We can only fulfill that mission and opportunity by being united, not only in wealth, power and opportunities, but also in ideals, and so our service to the whole human race," said Capt. the Rev. G. H. Woolley, V.C., M.C., director of the public schools' Empire tours, on his arrival in Victoria yesterday with his party of thirty-five English public school boys on a three-day visit here.
Captain Woolley expressed to The Colonist his conviction that as a result of the public schools' Empire tours through the Dominions there would be a great influx of British settlers, not only to Canada but to other Dominions as well.
The object of these tours, he explained, was that parties from the public schools, as well as the Empire should visit the Dominions and voice their impressions of what they had seen on their return to the Old Country. He believed that they would have a great effect in encouraging emigration to the Dominions of a good type of British settlers.
PROMOTES UNITY
It was the intention of the committee, Captain Woolley said, that these parties should visit all the Dominions. The first party was sent to Australia as an experiment in 1926, and last Christmas another went to South Africa. In this way he believed the various portions of the Empire would be drawn closer together.

Interesting Photographic Application to Locate Lost Monoplane Is Made by Aerial Photographer

BODIES TO BE CLAIMED TODAY

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Aug. 30.—A glimmering object on the bottom of Discovery Bay, possibly the giant Victoria-Seattle monoplane that carried seven people to death, was sighted near here today by Mr. Alex. Holden, pilot, and Mr. Robert M. Smith, aerial photographer, both of Tacoma.
"It looked somewhat the color of sand, as the dissolving plates would have," said Mr. Holden, whose father was one of the plane's passengers. "Of course we cannot be too sure."
A check of charts showed that there was no sand on the bottom of the bay at that point.
Development of photographs taken by Smith through a special filter which is designed to offset the color of water was expected to reveal whether or not the aviator saw the plane. Mr. A. H. AMUNDSEN PLANE REPORT DOUBTED

OSLO, Aug. 30.—Reports published by The Oslo Aftenposten today, that wreckage of an airplane believed to be the Latham seaplane of Rene Guilbaud and Roald Amundsen had been washed up on the North Norway coast, are apparently unfounded, according to later reports reaching the Aftenposten.
Oceanographic experts described the impossibility of such wreckage being that of the Latham plane, holding that the drift of the Gulf Stream would have carried the Amundsen plane in an entirely different direction had it been forced down.
Amundsen and Guilbaud, Lief Dittvechen, and a crew of three disappeared in June in the course of a flight from Tromsø, Norway, to Spitzbergen.

MR. P. CARROLL IS PENSIONED

Familiar Figure Retires
After Thirty-Seven Years'
Service With E. & N.
Railway

IN VIRGINIA CITY
IN BOOM PERIOD

MR. P. H. CARROLL

Well preserved and genial at the age of seventy-three, Mr. Patrick Henry Carroll, employee of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway for thirty-seven years, and for thirty years of that period bridge-keeper at the old Johnson Street Bridge, retires today on pension from the railway service.

Mr. Carroll is a man who radiates the kindness associated with the Irish character. Although he has worked hard over a long lifetime, he has every reason to take into retirement the friendly recollections of hundreds of Victorians, particularly those in the transportation field. They all know him as "Pat," and are glad to recall old times in his company.

Mr. Carroll had served under four superintendents, Mr. Joseph Hunter, the late Mr. H. K. Prior, Mr. H. E. Beasley and Mr. J. M. Cameron.

A native of County Mayo, Ireland, Mr. Carroll came to the United States when about eighteen years of age and engaged in various occupations, like many more young Irishmen, until late brought him to the famous Virginia City mining camp, then in the heyday of its fortunes.

The place was run wide open, with saloons, gambling premises and all the noise of a Western frontier town when he worked there in the metalliferous mines.

COMES TO CITY

From the rough and tumble of a Nevada mining camp Mr. Carroll brought his family here in the late eighties. He applied for a job in the Summer of 1891, and went to work on June 1 of that year, making barrels for the ties of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, between Victoria and Wellington.

Then he was assigned to put them in place, and to fill them with water from those in connection with the locomotives. The bridge foreman, Wilson Smith, seemed well pleased with the work he was doing, and gave him a permanent job with the carpenter crew. This kept him traveling on the portion of line then opened for more than a year.

In the Summer of 1892 came a vacancy to become bridge keeper at the old Johnson Street Bridge. He moved into the house across the bridge which he has since occupied for thirty-six years.

The bridge, erected by Mr. Robert Dunsinuir and opened to traffic in April, 1889, succeeded two ferries, operated in turn by Messrs. McIntosh and Nicholson, and was regarded as a great improvement to the town.

CHANGED CONDITIONS

To those who think that the office of bridge keeper must have been a light task in those days it should be recalled that the sealing fleet, which had its base in the Upper Harbor, was then in the bloom of its fame, and with tugs going up, sealing schooners moving and the service to the mills in the Inner Harbor, there was plenty to do to look after transient shipping.

In addition, there was also a class of trade handled then which has disappeared now, that of coal.

The average number of times the draw span was moved varied from ten to twenty-three per day, spread over periods from daybreak to dusk. When it is recalled that it represented twenty minutes' work, and that Mr. Carroll had no assistant, the tedium of long hours will be readily appreciated.

Mr. Carroll was also a constable, and in view of the fact that when he went to the reserve there were 700 Indians on the property, he says he was often called up at all hours of the night to quieten drunken brawls and pacify aborigines who had imbibed of the white man's liquor.

THE RESERVE MURDER

He well remembers the finding of the body of Mrs. Bings in a ditch on the reserve. She kept a store on Store Street facing the depot and lived with her husband in Victoria West. It was believed she had a little money, at any rate she seems to have been attacked in crossing the reserve and stripped after the murder. As the body was nude when discovered, the culprits were never brought to justice. This incident occasioned a great sensation in Victoria at the time.

When the new bridge was opened, he was offered the charge of it, but he was thought wiser to transfer Mr. Carroll's work to the station, and since 1922 he has been baggage man and constable at the depot.

Air Mail in East

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General of Canada, speaking at the directors' luncheon of the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday, stated that the business men of Canada who were using the air mail to their best advantage. He appealed to business interests to "get the most out of it." He said that the air mail service between Toronto and Montreal would become regular in the next few days. Air lines between Toronto and Buffalo and between Montreal and Schenectady, N.Y., were forecast by Mr. Veniot.

Appeal for Clothes For School Children

SCHOOL will reopen on Tuesday morning. Unfortunately, the numbers of boys and girls have practically nothing to wear. During the last few days the offices of the Friendly Help Association in the Market Building have been besieged with appeals from parents who are trying to outfit their little ones in readiness for the reopening of school, but the shelves and cupboards which should have a supply of shoes, sweaters, coats, pants and stockings are absolutely empty. Boys' clothing is particularly urgently needed, and the secretary of the Friendly Help, Miss Lawson, will be grateful to every one who brings or sends anything that will meet the need. As Monday is Labor Day, and the rooms will be closed, all supplies should be sent in either today or tomorrow. Nothing will be refused.

Rating Reforms Chief Plank of Conservatives

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The council of the Conservative Party has been considering resolutions from district associations all over the country for submission to the annual conference of the Conservative Party at York, next month, and has made the rating reforms the chief plank of the party programme. These rating reforms provide for removal of full local taxes on agricultural land and buildings and of 75 per cent of the levy by municipalities on industrial and transportation properties. In return the Government plans to compensate the municipalities from the treasury, having set aside a fund in the last budget for this purpose.

The rank and file of the party, however, expect that the "safeguarding" question will sooner or later take precedence over the rating proposals.

VANCOUVER POLICE COMMISSION REINSTATES THREE

Action Does Not Bind Board to Retain Men After Reorganization of Police Force

VANCOUVER, Aug. 30.—In one of the most hectic sessions in its history, the police commission this morning rejected a motion by Commissioner T. W. Long, Inspector John Jackson and Detective-Sergeant George McLaughlin to be dismissed from the force, and instructed the chief and McLaughlin to resume their offices by the vote of Mayor L. D. Taylor, chairman of the board, and Alderman J. A. Garbutt, the third member. The chief and McLaughlin were relieved from duty more than two months ago following a recommendation by R. S. Lennie, the commissioner investigating conditions in the force. Inspector Jackson, whose name appeared frequently during the probe, was not relieved of office.

The session was extremely lively at times, when a large number of representatives of women's organizations and the Ministerial Association, who were admitted, took a hand in the discussion which at times became unintelligible.

TO ATTORNEY-GENERAL

It was finally decided unanimously, on the motion of Commissioner Fletcher, that a copy of the Lennie report, with a transcript of evidence, be forwarded to the Attorney-General with a request to take such action as the evidence and findings warrant.

No definite plans of reorganization of the force were discussed, but it was intimated that a meeting will be held soon to discuss the question of complete reorganization. Both Mayor Taylor and Commissioner Garbutt stated that the resumption of office by Chief Long and Sergeant McLaughlin did not bind them in connection with the proposed reorganization.

ASSAULT COUNT HEARING OPENS

WITNESSES TELL MAGISTRATE OF STABBING AFFRAY ON
SS. PRINCESS ADELAIDE

F. F. Fletcher Charged With Assault
With Intent to Murder — Adjudged Until Wednesday

The story of a shooting affray, which terminated in the wounding of William Canning, of 312 Georgia Street, Vancouver, was related by Crown witnesses in the city police court yesterday, at the preliminary hearing of the case of Freeman Frederick Fletcher, colored, of Yorkton, Sask., who is charged with assault with intent to murder.

Canning told the court that he had been watching a card game in the smoking room of the Ss. Princess Adelaide early last Sunday morning when the vessel was en route from Victoria to Vancouver. The game was being played on the floor, and Fletcher, the accused, was on his knees on the floor at the time, and there was an argument about a bet.

To "Rags," a participant in the game, witness said he had made the remark: "He shoots $4." Fletcher got sore, and then witness walked away. Coming back to the game later, witness repeated the remark, and another negro said to him: "You'd better get out of here."

Canning testified that he walked out onto the deck, and had just turned around when he saw Fletcher coming at him. Witness said he hit Fletcher.

BLOOD ON COAT
"When we came out of the clench, I felt blood on my coat, and I knew I had been cut. I staggered over to the smoking room and fell down near the door," Canning stated.

Cross-examined by Mr. Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, witness declared he would not see a knife in Fletcher's hands, nor could he say whether the accused was drunk.

Mr. Henderson—"Why did you say your name was McDonald, at first?"

Witness—"Someone whispered to me to say that, and I did."

The second Crown witness was Christina Kelly, 2036 Kilcher Street, Vancouver, a witness of the affray, who said she had seen Fletcher and Canning coming on deck. Canning had struck Fletcher, and then Fletcher hit him back. Canning struck the other again, then someone yelled: "Look out, Billy, he's got a knife." "You darn right, I've got a knife," Fletcher retorted, witness testified.

VICTIM OF FIT SERIOUSLY CUT

John R. Montgomery Falls Through Plate Glass Store Window, Cutting Neck and Face

The victim of an epileptic fit, John R. Montgomery, 1034 Burdett Avenue, was badly cut on the neck and about the head yesterday when he fell into a plate glass window of J. H. (Mickey) Richardson's clothing store, Yates and Government Streets.

According to Dr. Walter Bapty, the attending physician, Mr. Montgomery cut his jugular vein and, although first aid was rendered the man was bleeding severely on his arrival at the Jubilee Hospital.

At a late hour last night the patient was reported out of danger, and resting easily.

Mr. A. J. Dallan, secretary of the local branch of the St. John's Ambulance Association, assisted by Constable Charles Cremer, rendered first aid.

Two frogs that had been sent in a tin box by parcel post from Japan, by way of Siberia, were displayed at the recent aquarium exhibition at London.

THANKS TO AMERICANS

It is only right to acknowledge that the vast share of the credit which belongs to the search made for Victoria's wrecked monoplane goes to the Americans. When they heard of the fact that the plane was missing they stood not on the order of their going but went in all directions on the quest. Airplanes from Seattle and Tacoma, all available coastguard vessels, the fishermen living throughout the vicinity where the monoplane was last heard of, Federal, State and County officials, all assisted, voluntarily and eagerly, in the search. Throughout, the most cordial desire to help has been evidenced by the Bremerton Navy Yard officials. The Americans, indeed, have left nothing undone that they could have done and they deserve the hearty thanks of the people on this side of the international boundary, which should be rendered in due course to Lieutenant-Commander L. L. Bennett and all those who conducted the search under him.

It may be true that the monoplane was wrecked in American waters, and that three Americans lost their lives in the disaster. We do not think that the latter fact entered at all into the minds of the American authorities and others who assisted in the search, and certainly not as any special reason, for they would have worked just as hard if no Americans had been aboard the ill-fated plane. What they have done, and the thorough manner in which they have done it, is an object lesson to our authorities on this side of the line. Of other aid that was rendered in the search, that given by Flight Lieutenant Hull, of the Jericho Beach Station in Vancouver, was especially appreciated. He made indefatigable efforts on four separate occasions to locate the plane, flying so low in the fog that he hit the water twice and might easily have been wrecked in his anxiety to be of assistance. The B.C. Airways, too, has been active within its limited scope in the search. Three vessels of the Canadian Navy were dispatched to the scene on Monday and spent a day on the quest. The efforts of Mr. Alec Holden have been sustained throughout, have been exhaustive and never wearying.

The point we want to make is that for all tangible results and for the greatest of the efforts made in the search by the American facilities, and particularly the American authorities, we are to be thanked. This can be said about the American people, that where there is disaster, or wherever and whenever lives are endangered, if the location is with reach of American aid, that aid is forthcoming speedily and without stint. No red tape shackles the movements of any Government service when the call for help goes up. To all intents and purposes the services of the American Navy, of the coastguard service, of the air force, of State and County resources, and of the people, have been placed at the disposal of the B.C. Airways in the loss of its monoplane. That is something to be remembered with profound gratitude. Without the aid that was given, and without the extent that it was forthcoming, the fate of the monoplane would probably still remain a mystery.

FORTHCOMING FAIRS

The agricultural industry in British Columbia is fostered and encouraged by the measure of success that attends the various district fairs held in the province. There are two fairs taking place within the next few weeks, both of them of interest to Victorians and the people of Vancouver Island. One is at Saanichton, an exhibition that is of special value to the Saanich Peninsula as a whole. The other is at New Westminster, one of the outstanding fairs of the character in the province. Saanichton is within easy reach of Victoria and should appeal to all people who are interested in the progress of the agricultural industry in this vicinity. They can show their interest by attending the fair and having exhibits there.

The place which the New Westminster Exhibition occupies in the agricultural life of the province is illustrated by the Provincial Government's grant of $10,000 to insure its success. New Westminster is a focal point for the produce of the Fraser Valley. Its stock exhibits are always notable. Victoria has had a recent example of the manner in which Mainland stock-raisers are anxious to encourage the industry on Vancouver Island. They sent exhibits here and contributed largely to the interest aroused in the character of the stock shown here. Island stock owners should reciprocate by patronizing the New Westminster Exhibition which is being held next week. Agricultural development, in many of its phases, is built up by co-operative effort. One phase of co-operation is the desire to multiply the exhibits at the various fairs and to make them as thoroughly representative as possible of provincial development. It is a small matter to ask the people of Vancouver Island to co-operate with New Westminster as the New Westminster district has co-operated with the Provincial Exhibition authorities here. Whatever can be done should be done and it will be an earnest of the growing desire to bring about greater production agriculturally in this province.

EMPIRE AND REPUBLIC

It is sometimes said of our American cousins that they are inclined to be self-centred. Nevertheless, there are indications that, whatever truth there may have been in the observation in the past, it is no longer true if one may judge from the contents of certain American newspapers which exhibit an increasing and friendly interest in the affairs of the British Empire and of our own Dominion in particular.

The Monitor, printed in Boston, is a notable example of high class journalism. A recent issue of that newspaper contains no less than twenty-three dispatches and articles relating to the Empire. Most of the dispatches bear a London date-line. Others are from Edinburgh, Dublin, Hereford, Cowes, Johannesburg, Montreal and Stewart, B.C. The subject matter of these dispatches and articles ranges all the way from politics and international relations through such interests as commerce and finance and on by gentle degrees to art and literature and, of course, sport.

One of the London dispatches relates to the British interest in the Egyptian arbitration treaty another deals with eminent Victorians and a third article discourses upon a Shakespearean First Folio and Shakespeare's personal friends. That from Dublin consists largely of comment upon Canadian success in the Tait-teann Games. The British Columbia story has to do with a projected railway in this province.

Out of eight articles on the editorial page, one is upon the British Royal Society for the Protection of Birds and another deals with Ontario's liquor laws. A third, occupying a distinctive position, and taking up quite one-fourth of the entire page, is an appreciative, informative and friendly account, with much statistical matter, of Canada's progress during the present century as compared with the United States in the corresponding quarter of the nineteenth.

PROMINENT VISITORS

So far as is known no preparations have been made here to welcome and entertain the Empire Parliamentary Association representatives who are expected on September 11. The party, some sixty in all, comprising members of Parliament from different parts of the Empire, many of them noteworthy in different ways, is probably the most representative, not only of its character, but of any character, that has ever visited the West. Lord Hailsham, the British Lord Chancellor, was to have headed the party, but has been prevented by his duties as acting Prime Minister of Britain during the absence from England of Mr. Stanley Baldwin. Lord Hailsham's place has been taken by Viscount Peel, another member of the British Cabinet. Wherever these representatives have been throughout the Dominion they have been the recipients of hospitality and we do not doubt that adequate preparations for their reception will be made in the capital of this province. The object of the occasional tours of members of the Empire Parliamentary Association is so that the elected representatives of the different legislatures of the British domain may instruct themselves on Empire conditions and imperial problems.

The Kellogg Pact for the outlawry of war strikes people in different ways, just according to how the human mind and human reason are constituted. London Truth says of it: "Having solemnly renounced all idea of making war, the parties to the pact should cease to arm against one another. Without that the solemn renunciation becomes the most empty piece of humbug ever inscribed on a scrap of paper."

Commenting on the Conservative Cabinet of British Columbia, The Toronto Globe says: "The new Government contains several men with records of signal success in business, and if they apply their talents unselfishly to public service the future of the Province should be of the brightest."

THE VAGRANT

If I could close my ears
 To the sound of the wind in the trees,
 To the cooing siren voices
 In the wake of the southwest breeze;
 And so alone the moonlight
 Flooding the old grey hills,
 Or the plumbless depths of the corries
 And the mid-dark shadow fills;
 Nor am I the breath of the pine woods
 Or the distant tang of the sea,
 I might find content in your arms, my dear,
 And peace between you and me.

DEMOCRACY IN INDIA

India stands committed to experiments in the European system of government, just as China does, and would remain so committed even if every English authority left the country. Yet nothing can be more certain than that this modern nationalism imported from Europe to the East denationalizes the Orientals; and it is possible that English rulers may find themselves face to face with a demand from the Native States in India, crying to be delivered from the invasion of democracy.—Stephen Gwynn, in The Fortnightly Review.

A feather in hand is better than a bird in the air.—George Herbert.

CHINA NOW LIKE MEDIAEVAL ITALY

Bands of Brigands Sell Swords to Highest Bidders and Fight Are Bloodless

The closest parallel that Europe can show to the present state of China is Italy in the Middle Ages, with its condottieri selling their swords to the highest bidder, fighting their rather bloodless battles this year under the flag of Tuscany, next year under that of Bologna or Milan. The parallel is not complete, but one element is constant in both—the money factor, writes Mr. G. Allenby in The London Spectator.

Money will do anything in China. A dollar or two will buy a soldier; a few thousands will buy an army complete with general and staff. Everything has its price. A well-known journalist not long ago of the nature of an auction, movement as closely to the National League of Great Britain as it was then linked to those of Moscow, for 500 million of the money. He could almost certainly have done it. Hence the struggles for cities like Tientsin, Canton and Shanghai; the immense "squads" of soldiers that from them enables any Tsuchun who is in possession to pay his troops and buy up almost any other Tsuchun. The Tsuchun army corps, as long as he held Shanghai had to be reckoned with; but the moment that Chiang Kai-shek, newly arrived from Canton, had bribed and manoeuvred him out of the port he faded out like a film star. To pay your troops is an occasional insurance against their being bought up by a rival Tsuchun; even so, it is not an absolute certain precaution, since every military and political crisis takes the form of an auction, and the war of all against all is one of the most common of the "chung-jen" (pronounced chung-jen), a sort of broker who attends the auction, notes prices and makes bids. It is customary to keep an efficient chung-jen attached to the staffs of serious rivals, to keep one informed of the state of the market, so to speak.

CHINESE NOT SOLDIERS

The military material over which the bargaining takes place is mixed. Some of it is fairly good—Chang Tso-Lin certainly had a fine corps of shock troops who would attack an entrenched position under machine-gun and artillery fire, and did so before the fall of Nanking in 1926. Feng has quite a disciplined lot of men, too; he has had the wit to discover the military value of Christianity, as expressed in singing hymns on the march, and his troops go into and out of action in mood and order to the strains of Moody and Sankey. The "professional soldier" element, that of men who are soldiers because they like soldiering, is entirely lacking. No Chinese likes soldiering. But they do like being paid. The "professional bandit" element is very large. The gangs, from the little mountain bands to large, highly organized societies like the Red Spears of Central China, or the Red Beards of the North, are a regular recruiting ground of Chinese armies. Bandits join up as individuals or in small groups, or one reads that this war-generals or that has "secured the support of the Red Spears"—which means, of course, that he has paid them. Not always for long, for the more irregular levies tend to revert to their old profession, especially in defeat, when conditions become unpleasant. The Red Spears, for instance, almost all. This is one of the worst features of civil war in China—the perpetration, indeed the propagation, of crime. The "Red Spears" are bandits, accompanied by recruits, settle down again to live on the country. They take their arms with them, and the "Red Spears" are almost all. Grain Companies Deny Exactions Farmers Allege VANCOUVER, Aug. 30.—Rumors to the effect that British Columbia dairy farmers are not getting fair treatment from grain elevator men in the purchasing of screenings for cattle feed, were denied by witnesses from various grain companies when they testified at the milk inquiry this afternoon.

Witnesses declared that dairy farmers of the province have the same opportunity to buy screenings from Vancouver grain elevators that are given to any other buyers. It was admitted, however, that, as in other business, buyers on a large scale were preferred to small, irregular purchasers.

Prevailing rumors claimed that British Columbia farmers were discouraged from buying screenings by exceptionally high prices, and these screenings were shipped to Seattle and sold there as feed for cattle at a lower price than is demanded in Vancouver.

Marries at Eighty-Eight

WEBB, Sask., Aug. 30.—A romance of old age has culminated here in the wedding of Mrs. Anthony Moore, who is seventy-three, and Josiah McIntosh, now in his eighty-eighth year.

He (anxiously): "I say, Jill, what do your parents think of me?"

She (lightly): "I really don't know—father hasn't said and mother is waiting for his opinion so that she can disagree with him."

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

BOOSTING FOR HEALTH

The patient who adheres strictly to his doctor's directions usually regains his health quickly. Even though most patients do adhere to their doctor's instructions, it is a noticeable fact that some of them get well more quickly than others. These patients are enthusiastic, and continue to increase in health and happiness. Every once in a while they bring in a few patients to the doctor who treated them.

This booster type of patient responds more quickly than the average sick person because he not only practices dieting, but he talks about health and getting better. By teaching good habits of living to his friends, he has fixed them in his own mind so that they become a part of him. You can see the point. This veritable teaching of others helps to establish a regular healthful regime deeply rooted in the subconscious memory. The patient may feel justly proud of these accomplishments. By explaining these things to his friends, he has become more and more interested in the necessity of the right food and exercise, and through careful investigation he has become more fully and intelligently conscious of the advantages which come from living a healthful life. It has been truthfully said that one only begins to learn a thing thoroughly when he attempts to teach it to others. If you are desirous of being still more benefited from the advice contained in this column, you must not only follow the advice literally by practicing the proven good rules which I give you, but you should do your best to help others by bringing these facts to their attention. We get from this world just about as much as we are willing to give, and it is a good policy to point out the right path to others. If you were in the dark yourself, you could appreciate a guiding hand.

There is a very close connection between spoken words and memory. Did you ever wonder why you can't remember events of your childhood that occurred before two or three years of age? The reason is because at that early age you could not talk about what you were doing, and therefore your memory of events was not as thoroughly impressed upon your mind as later when you learned to do things and talk about them at the same time. As you grow older, your memory mind becomes stronger because those things that are spoken about are visualized and remembered. The one who is sick will only make himself worse if he repeats over and over again the stories of his illness and pain, for disease is fostered by those who develop habits of complaining about their troubles. How much better to develop the health habit of talking about wholesome ideas of diet, fresh air and exercise, and in this way build them into the subconsciousness so that they will become a living part of your personality.

Correspondents wishing to communicate with Dr. McCoy are advised that his address is Builders Exchange Building, Los Angeles, California, U.S.A.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOYS GREETED AT FETE HERE

Victoria British Public Schools Club Host at Dinner to English Party in Empress Hotel

CITY ENTERTAINS VISITORS TODAY

A rousing welcome to this Western outpost of Empire was extended by the Victoria British Public Schools Club last night to the party of English public school boys touring Canada, who arrived here on yesterday afternoon's boat from Vancouver.

The British Public Schools Club entertained their guests at a dinner and smoker in the Empress Hotel, following the automobile drive around the city. The dinner was largely attended, and presided over by Colonel T. E. Harrison, D.S.O., president of the club. Alderman John Harvey, in the absence of Mayor Carl Pendray from the city, represented the city of Victoria. Colonel Harrison, in tendering a hearty greeting to the visiting public school boys from Great Britain, expressed the pleasure and privilege afforded the club to entertain the visitors, and asked them on their return to the Old Country to tell any of the old public school boys to be sure and visit Victoria when they came to Canada, and they would be made most welcome at the club's premises here.

EXTENDS THANKS

In replying to the words of welcome, Captain the Rev. G. H. Woolley, V.C., M.C., director of the public schools, thanked the club for its generous reception. "As I get further West, the more and more I find it like England. And the club is a distinct link with England," Captain Woolley said, amid applause.

A fine programme of entertainment was thoroughly appreciated. Vocal solos were rendered by Messrs. E. F. Allen, Ernest Buttler, Will Marshall, C. F. L. Money, H. Studholme, L. Scott-Moncrieff, P. Hughes and A. C. Geddes. Messrs. Lou Mahan and Frank Steiner, who are appearing this week at the Capitol Theatre, staged a singing turn that went over in wonderful style. Mr. I. R. Crossley rendered a banjo solo, and Mr. P. C. Barnett was heard in a flagpole solo. Mr. R. A. Anderson played bagpipe selections and brought the "house down." Colonel Harrison related a hunting experience. Community singing was enthusiastically indulged in. The accompanists were Messrs. P. Fletcher and P. Hughes.

ROUSING CHORUSES

The Harrow boys sang a chorus, "Forty Years On," and the Elton boys rendered the "Eton Boat Song." The visiting public school boys, who will remain here until tomorrow at midnight, will be entertained today by the City of Victoria. They will meet at the Crystal Garden at 1:30 o'clock, tickets to be distributed for the garden, to permit of swimming facilities. They will next participate in a drive to the Butchart Gardens, the Saanich Observatory, and will then cross on the Mill Bay ferry to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, being way of Goldstream, supper being served on the flats at Goldstream.

Tomorrow the programme will include visits to the Gonzales Observatory, Parliament Buildings and Government House. In the afternoon there will be a cricket match at the Royal Jubilee Hospital grounds at 2 o'clock. The local team will be composed of W. E. Wilkinson (captain), G. C. Grant, F. Barber-Starky, Cassels, J. F. Meredith, J. H. Gillespie, G. M. Billings, H. E. Hewitt, F. Saxton White, W. Griston and F. Levin.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

The local committee under Mr. Downes, in charge of the reception, includes F. E. Parker, Col. B. H. Belson, Dr. A. G. Price, Col. T. E. Harrison, C. C. Cooper and D. B. McLaren, secretary of the club.

With Mr. Woolley are Lieut. D. R. H. Gwynne, of the Rifle Brigade, and Henry Studholme.

The boys in the party and their schools are:

A. C. Geddes, Stowe; Buxton, Nigel, R. D. B. Adamson, A. D. Dalgleish, W. Berts, A. Siddons, J. H. Brocklehurst, D. J. Bailey of Harrow; L. E. Marshall, J. F. Marshall, R. A. Anderson, R. Russell, F. THIRTY DROWNED

TOKIO, Aug. 30.—Thirty persons are believed to have been drowned in the bursting of a reservoir at the Komoro Electric power station in Central Japan. The flood waters washed away nine houses.

TOW BOAT CAPSIZES

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 30.—Twelve men and two women, the crew of the steamer Alquippa, a Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation towboat, were reported missing early today when the boat overturned in the Ohio River, near the steel company works at Alquippa.

Mother—Son, do I smell tobacco on your breath?
Son—"Yes, mother."
Mother—"Then you will have to stop going out with those girls."

SAANICH SCHOOL MAY BE ENLARGED

Trustee Horner Suggests That Bus Money Be Utilized for Addition to Cloverdale School

As the Cloverdale School was overcrowded at the termination of the last school year and will be more so at the commencement of school next week, Trustee A. E. Horner, of the Saanich School Board, suggested to the board that two additional rooms were badly needed. He further suggested that the $10,000 allotted to the Lake Hill bus area would make a permanent and safe investment and along with the apportioned share of the profits would give the municipality the right to expect a little assistance from the Provincial Department of Education by a further grant of $5,000.

Trustee Horner pointed out when he introduced his suggestion that this would give the Lake Hill bus area a vast improvement that would remain permanent, costing $15,000. Two of the eight rooms in the school that are practically full to the mark have been under the eye of Dr. David Berman, medical health officer of the district. He reported that the rooms in the basement are badly ventilated and the lighting system is very poor. If the two-room addition is constructed, the basement part of the school can be done away with.

The school when designed could accommodate approximately 210 students, when school closed last June the attendance was 287, and the board anticipates an increase of twenty-five more pupils when it reopens on September 4.

As the Cloverdale School has no assembly hall, it is planned, should the profits of the bus line area be used as Trustee Horner suggested, that the two rooms and a new assembly hall be financed on the $15,000, of which provincial grants would cover one-third.

The municipal council is expected to call a gathering of the residents of Lake Hill, and the board appointed Trustees W. Jeune and A. E. Horner to represent them, and let it know the amount of money set aside for the various school facilities. It was pointed out if the money by-law for school buildings were before the ratepayers it would be defeated, due to the various sections that would oppose Cloverdale and Lake Hill districts.

"SALADA" TEA

Because of the popularity of luminous faces for timepieces, a small laboratory in a London doctor's garden is unusually busy extracting practically all the mesothorium used in England. Mesothorium is the substance that has almost entirely replaced radium for making luminous figures on clock and watch faces. It is far cheaper than radium, and twice as powerful in making the phosphorescent paints that cause the dial to glow, but its power lasts only a few years, while that of radium is much longer-lived. GUN-DOG SHOW IS CARDER SATURDAY

Victoria and District Club Will Stage Second Annual Event—Retrieving Contest Stated

Victoria and District Gun-Dog Club will hold its second annual open air show and retrieving contest tomorrow, starting at 1 o'clock.

A fine location will be used for the show and contest, on property on Esquimalt Road, beside the residence of Mrs. Besenette, at 1493 Esquimalt Road. The open air machine show will commence at 1 o'clock, and the dogs have been judged by Mr. W. R. Wilgress, of Vancouver, the retrieving contest will follow without delay.

This event will be divided into two classes, one for pointers and setters, to retrieve on land only, the other for retrievers and sporting spaniels, to retrieve on land and also in water. A larger entry is expected than last year, when sixty-five dogs were present.

Mr. Wilgress, who will judge the show, is known all over the country as one of the best sporting dog judges; he has bred and sold some internationally famous setters, and the setter men especially can be sure of receiving expert judging of their dogs.

AN EXPERT JUDGE

The retrieving contest, which aroused so much interest last year, will be judged by E. N. Barker, of Cobble Hill, lately of Cardston, Alberta.

Mr. Barker is a sportsman with almost half a century's experience in the hunting field, both in the Old Country and America, and it is a certainty that every dog performing in the contest will win or lose upon actual merit as to work done.

Weather permitting, the retrievers and spaniels will be worked under actual duck-hunting conditions; a wonderful location for this work has been found, where the onlookers may see every bit of work done by the dog, without interfering therewith.

The throw-out dog to retrieve out of sight of dog and handler, some thirty feet above the water, and a dead bird thrown out into the open for the dog to retrieve.

Entry to the grounds will be fifty cents per dog, per class, for the show, and one dollar per dog, per class, for the retrieving contest.

Substantial cash prizes will be given as last year; in addition, silver trophies have been donated by the Dominion Cartridge Company.

H. M. Redpath, president of the club, W. R. Wilgress, the judge, and Major Fordham, also merchandise, of real use to the hunting man.

Entry of dogs may be made on the grounds, with N. W. F. Rant, the treasurer. Anyone may exhibit or work a dog, every class being open to the world.

To pull on the left glove before the right is, in the opinion of all superstitious boxers, "asking for trouble."

P.O. KERR WILL REFEREE LAKE-FIELDING MIX

R.C.N. Representative Will Be Third Man in Ring at Tomorrow Night's Big Fight—Judges Named

BAYLEY CONFIDENT HIS BOY WILL WIN

Petty Officer Kerr of the Royal Canadian Navy, has been chosen to act as the third man in the ring tomorrow night, when the representatives of H.M.S. Durban will meet local boxers at the show to be presented by Joe Bayley at the Tillamook Club room, Broad Street.

The judges for the bouts are Bob Vipond and J. Leask, and it is expected that these officials, who have had lots of experience in the padded ring game, will give every satisfaction to everyone concerned.

The above officials were chosen last night at a meeting of representatives of Lake and Fielding, principals in the main event. Joe Bayley, who is acting for Fielding, and who is the promoter of the bout, stated that he does not care who referees or judges the contests, as anyone with a knowledge of the game is suitable to him. He is confident in his mind that Fielding will score a clean-cut victory.

Bayley admits that Lake is a phenomenally clever boxer. He states, however, that top notch fighters must have something more than cleverness, and he figures that a fighter with a good wallop in either hand plus aggressiveness, is way ahead of a clever, fancy-stepping boxer.

"In my day," Joe says, "I fought lots of clever boys, just as smart as the sailor, but just as soon as I landed one of my rights to the body they forgot all of their clever tactics and it was not long before they went to the floor. I have trained Fielding along different lines for tomorrow night's bout," Bayley said, "and I look for him to give the fans a big surprise. In the last bout Lake landed on him with everything he had and he did not hurt him a particle, so now that Tommy realizes that Lake is devoid of a wallop he can afford to take chances and go after him right from the start. At the last fight his hand was in bad shape, but now it has completely healed and there is nothing to prevent him from putting up the bout of his career."

"In my day," Joe says, "I fought lots of clever boys, just as smart as the sailor, but just as soon as I landed one of my rights to the body they forgot all of their clever tactics and it was not long before they went to the floor. I have trained Fielding along different lines for tomorrow night's bout," Bayley said, "and I look for him to give the fans a big surprise. In the last bout Lake landed on him with everything he had and he did not hurt him a particle, so now that Tommy realizes that Lake is devoid of a wallop he can afford to take chances and go after him right from the start. At the last fight his hand was in bad shape, but now it has completely healed and there is nothing to prevent him from putting up the bout of his career."

Bayley is confident that his boy will win. He is confident in his mind that Fielding will score a clean-cut victory.

Bayley admits that Lake is a phenomenally clever boxer. He states, however, that top notch fighters must have something more than cleverness, and he figures that a fighter with a good wallop in either hand plus aggressiveness, is way ahead of a clever, fancy-stepping boxer.

Local Lightweights Is Billed to Meet Able Seaman Clarke, of H.M.S. Despatch, on Sept. 6

When Dave Lewis, crack local lightweight, stacks up against Able Seaman Clarke, of H.M.S. Despatch, at the Armories on the night of September 6, he is going to face a pretty neat bit of fighting machinery.

According to the reports reaching here from the ship, Clarke, who has had some very good fights and has always used a smashing left hand to wear down his man.

Lewis is some punkins of a hitter himself and likes to get into a real mixup. Lewis has a wicked smash to the heart which has been the cause of many fighters curling up and taking the count. He will go out after Clarke, and if the sailor lives up to advance notices and can fight the bout should be a pippin'.

It will last three rounds, provided nobody hits the canvas before that time. The rest of the card will be very interesting, with plenty of action. Able Davies, Charlie Storck, Frankie Neel, Johnny Plant and B. Hawkins will be the other fighters. They will be pitted against men from H.M.S. Despatch.

The Canadian Scottish pipe and brass bands will be in attendance and live up to the intervals.

A REMARKABLE SHOT
They started again and Jimmy ended the match with one of the greatest shots I have ever seen in tournament competition—a full wooden to within two feet of the pin from 200 yards. That was just about enough for the Walker Cup veteran, Eustace Storey, and his partner, Tony Torrance, and the match ended right there—4 and 2.

These two-ball foursome events are interesting, and I would love to play in one some time. It's a bit of a different game than regular golf, but it's a lot of fun. You have someone to blame for a few of the bad shots besides yourself.

Tomorrow will be the final day. The matches will be singles—eight in number—and it will take a lot of good golf for the English to catch the fast-flying Yankees. They still have a 'gilling chance' but the odds are overwhelmingly against them.

Trumbull Comments On Jokes and Humor At Sporting Events

Noted Writer Tells of Some Laughs Derived From Athletic World—Trick of Changing Baseball in Play Unfolded

By WALTER TRUMBULL
(Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

The humorists who tied buckets to the steering posts of the Star Class boats in the regatta at Starling, Long Island, probably got several chuckles out of seeing one of the midget yachts stop in full career and another one act like an automobile with the engine going but the wheels removed. It was, however, no laughing matter to the serious-minded skipper, required by the conditions to be less than fifteen years of age, who were under the tension of a championship race.

Such a brand of humor it not new. It belongs with the golf ball pressed from soap and the billiard ball with the mercury centre, the path of which resembles an abstruse problem in plane geometry.

As long ago as 1844 there was a crew race at New Haven which was rowed under circumstances later found to be suspicious. Sixteen men of the class of '45 purchased a deerskin canoe, built on the Susquehanna, near Birmingham, several years before which they named The Centipede. This boat was forty-five feet long, twenty-four inches wide and cost almost $24. Not wishing to expend any such sum for exercise alone, the crew challenged another class boat, The Nautilus, to a race. The Centipede won, but the glory of the victory was somewhat clouded when it was discovered that in the dead of night preceding the regatta unprincipled persons had firmly attached a slab of rock to The Nautilus' keel.

SOME ROWING HUMOR
I can remember that in my youth it was considered extremely humorous at lake resorts to induce one learning to row to use a boat which had one end of a rope fastened to the keel just forward of the rower's seat and the other end tied well under water to the supporting pillar of a dock. As soon as the rope became taut, the student oarsman would proceed in a circle, to his own chagrin and the vocal encouragement of the onlookers.

Sharp practice always appears to be a source of merriment to those not directly involved. It was comparatively few years ago when pocket billiards was known as pool and before Don Marquis and Heywood Brown became sharks at the game, that those two literary lions had induced to combat on an English billiard table with American pool balls which were slightly too large to go in the pockets. The gentlemen involved got a splendid workout before they discovered that all was not according to Hoyle.

Sometimes more concrete rewards have resulted from acts in sport where the perpetrators refrained from laughter until they were alone. Before college football, for example, became an ethical and honorable as it is now, there was the Carleton team which arrived at Harvard with leather pads in the shape of foot-

Fourteenth to Swim English Channel

MISS IVY HAWKS

Of London, entered the water at Cape Gris Nez at 8:30 on Saturday, and at 8:57 Sunday she touched the rocks at St. Paul's, France. She was the first woman to swim the English Channel.

There was also the coach who had no kick of worth and found his team opposed by an eleven with a player reputed to be able to boot the ball seventy yards. He courteously offered the visitors their choice of three new footballs for the contest. One was inflated soft, the second softer and the third softest. The famous kicker averaged about thirty yards per punt.

The harder you blow up a football, of course, the further it can be kicked, although it is more likely to be fumbled. This theory applies to other games. The "rabbit rule" in baseball is not of necessity one with a larger or more resilient core but one which is more tightly wrapped—a harder ball. The same thing goes for golf.

MID DEBATE SUN
In old-time football there is also record of eleven depending on speed arriving at rival gridirons to find that, despite continued fair and sunny weather, the field was a mass of mud. Such jokes no longer find favor in the best football society.

Professional sport always has known its little jokes. The old Orioles were suspected of sometimes, when they were at bat, introducing a lively ball. This would be hidden in the grass of the outfield. There is even a case on record of where an outfielder threw in the wrong ball. There also are stories of baseball put in the icebox over night. They deduced to the point where Babe Ruth couldn't have knocked one out of the infield.

Even pugilism has known its bits of humor. Something in the tea and something in the bandages, oil of mustard on the gloves or a light bolt held in the hand have produced their joyous laughter, but only on the part of those who collected the bets.

This is a dark and cheerless world for the sap. He learns that any new-born baby can cry, but that man has to learn to laugh.

ROYALS TIE UP SOFTBALL TITLE SERIES

Frank Parkinson Twirls Shinglemen to Win Over Fast Hillcrest Squad in Second Game

DECIDING FIXTURE SET FOR SATURDAY

The Royals pulled the unexpected last evening at the Central Park in the second game of the city softball championship, when they trounced the fast-traveling Hillcrest crew by the overwhelming score of 16-3. Hillcrest, however, gave the worst drubbing of the season and were outclassed in every department of the game from start to finish.

Frank Parkinson, star chucker for the winners, twirled his best game of the year and had the losers swinging in vain after the second inning. His supporters played first-class ball and banged the horsehide all over the lot. On the other hand the losers permitted errors galore to creep into their play. De Costa, pitcher for the Hillcrest, never settled down to business and walked at least eight men.

TAKE EARLY LEAD
The Royals took the lead in the fourth frame and were never headed. They came to bat in the final inning and before they were checked they had crossed the plate for eight runs.

These two teams will clash in the third final game tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The winner will journey to Vancouver to play the first game for the Provincial championship. A double-header will be played on Saturday, September 8, at the Royal Athletic Park, between the same two teams.

Bob Whyte was behind the plate and Bill Henley looked after the pitching.

WEST HOLME LEAGUE

Colwood Wood Company and Marigold will play off for the Westholme Knockout Cup next Wednesday at the Central Park at 6:15 o'clock. E. Stock and N. Kerr are umpires. This will be the final game of the season.

Black Abbott Wins Gymcrack Stakes

YORK, Eng., Aug. 30.—A Falcon's colt, Black Abbott, won the Gymcrack Stakes here this afternoon by one and a half lengths from Sir E. Tate's Roigrey, with the Aga Khan's Buland Bak in third place, another two lengths back. Ten ran the six furlong race, an outstanding feature of the late season events for two-year-olds.

The Black Abbott, an Abbott's Trance-Vesicle colt, started at 11 to 8 against, and second and third horses at 9 to 2 and 10 to 1, respectively.

Herb Gardiner Signs With Chicago Hawks

Three Island Junior Net Titles Come to Victoria

Steve Jones Wins Boys' Championship Under Eighteen, While Joan List Captures Under Sixteen and Eighteen Events

DUNCAN, Aug. 30.—The annual open junior tournament of the Duncan Lawn Tennis Club, which carries with it the Vancouver Island junior championships in the various single events, was concluded here this afternoon.

The entries this year numbered 230 as against 110 a year ago. The standard of play in the final rounds was very high and about 300 spectators were present on the final day.

Mr. Young, of Vancouver, secretary of the B.C. Tennis Association, complimented the local committee very highly on what was being done to encourage the younger players. It was the only tournament of its kind in the province, and he believed, in the Dominion.

Extra events have been added this year in the under eighteen years' classes. Phil Jaynes having presented a beautiful perpetual challenge cup for boys' singles, and J. Greig a similar trophy for girls' singles in this class.

Miss List, of Victoria, scored a double victory in the singles, winning the championship in both the under sixteen and under eighteen years' events. Her opponent in both cases was Miss P. White, of Vancouver, and both matches were three-set affairs.

STEVE JONES WINS
Steve Jones, of Victoria, won the boys' championship in the eighteen years' class, paired with Miss Green, of Duncan, carried off the mixed event also. This was an excellent three-set match against P. Sills, of Vancouver, and Miss Joan List, of Victoria. Sills was the winner in the boys' singles under sixteen. His play was of a high order throughout.

The best match of the afternoon, and probably of the tournament, was the final of the boys' doubles under eighteen years. This was won by Leney and Lundie, who defeated Steve Jones and Tisdall in three long sets. Both pairs played splendid tennis, but the work of young Leney in particular was spectacular.

Today's results follow:

Clash Between Everton and Portsmouth Holding Spotlight in English First Division Tomorrow

LEEDS UNITED TO PLAY LEICESTER

LONDON, Aug. 30.—English First Division League soccer has hit its stride with a rush and has begun to develop intense interest. Principal among the matches next Saturday will be the clash between Everton, league champions, and Portsmouth, at Everton. Last week Portsmouth, downed Huddersfield Town, runners-up for both the English Cup and league championship last season.

Portsmouth had a splendid career in the minor leagues last year. They languished near the bottom of the averages for a long time, then, due to a lavish expenditure of money on players, managed to escape relegation. Everton won their first match against Bolton Wanderers, last Saturday, through the brilliance of their great centre-forward, Dean. However, the champions could not do better than draw with Sheffield Wednesday.

A DOMESTIC AFFAIR
Another fine fixture will be the domestic affair between Manchester United and Manchester City, the latter team having come up from the minors this year.

Leeds United, the other Second Division club to earn promotion, will get a real testing this week, as they have to travel to Leicester City, the third team in the averages for 1927-1928. Leeds made a fine start last Saturday, when they humbled Aston Villa, 4-1. They also swamped Bury in a mid-week fixture.

The Scottish First Division layout is not as attractive as they are because such teams as Celtic, Rangers and Queens Park have no league engagements this week.

Kootenay Ladies' Golf Opens Today

NELSON, Aug. 30.—First round of the ladies' Kootenay golf championship for the Goanell Cup will be played Friday over the course of the Nelson Golf and Country Club in Rosemont.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

JUST LIKE A WOMAN

A teacher was telling her class the story of a shepherd who, finding a lamb in the hills almost frozen, took off his coat, wrapped it round the lamb and carried it back to the fold, where it revived.

On finishing the story, she asked the boys if they knew of a similar act of kindness.

After a pause, there came a piping voice from the back of the class: "Please, miss, I once heard dad say he put his shirt on a 'one that was scratched'."

"An' do ye think he looks loike his father?"

"O! do that, but don't ye mind, Mrs. Murphy, just so long as the child is healthy."
